THIRTY MEN CHOSEN FOR BASKETBALL

Excellent Results At Faculty Practices.

150 MEN TURNED OUT.

Basketball Squads Divided Into Two Groups.

The preliminary Faculty practices have now been completed and with excellent results. Probably over 150 men of the University turned out at different times and showed that they were interested in the game.

The Faculty basketball representatives were formed as a committee and after great deliberation thirty players of the game were chosen as being eligible for the college basketball squad. This number was considered too large for a general practice, so the men were divided into two groups so that each player may get a good showing and thus eliminate the possibility of a good player being underestimated.

The following men are of Group A and they will practice every week on Tuesday 6:15-7:15 p.m., and on Saturday 6:15-7:15 p.m.:

(A)—Finley, Foster, Martin, Corribeau, Davis, Askmann, Curtis, McPhail, Dugan, Schwartzman, Levitt, Mendelshon, Amaron, Hyndham, Foss, B. Little, James, Crain, McMeans.

The second Group B will practice on Thursday 6:15-7:15 p.m., and Saturday afternoon.

(B)—Hay, Montgomery, Young, L. A. Kern, M. Korn, James, Root, Craine, McMeans, Brown, R. Foss, Seath, Ferguson, Lashley, C. Forbes, Parrault. Every player mentioned in these groups is earnestly requested to be present at every practice scheduled for his group, as very little time is left before choosing the teams that will represent the University. The prospects are better than ever this year, as many men of the pre-war Intermediate championship team are back at college and have all decided to turn out and help make this season a successful one for basketball. Dr. Lamb and Art Walsh will both give the men their valuable coaching while Shaughnessy has promised to collaborate with the two above mentioned in putting the team into shape.

ENJOYABLE WRESTLING PRACTICE YESTERDAY

Mr. Smith Shows New Holds and Throws.

Yesterday afternoon the wrestlers held their Tuesday practice in the upper hall of the Union. Some of the men arrived early, and so a short bout was going on when Mr. Smith arrived to take charge at 5:15.

First, the men warmed up in a little running around the room, and on the call to halt, fell in around the mat. Work commenced in earnest, and each man and his partner, before going on the mat, was given instructions as to what to do. On hearing a short blast of the whistle they were to hold their position while the instructor showed them what they ought to do when in that position. Each pair were on the mat for three minutes, although some men were heard to declare that the timekeeper's watch was not a standard one. The men found this practice very interesting and instructive, besides stirring up a feeling of competition, which cannot be done by any course in gymnastics.

After each pair had had their practice, Mr. Smith, taking Adams as an example, went on to show the method of procedure in wrestling. In this workout the instructor kept up a steady flow of advice to the men sitting around as to what they should do if the holds which Adams was applying to him were applied to them. After working thus for about five minutes, Mr. Smith considered that he had shown the men enough for one night, so the mat was left open for practice bouts again.

These bouts lasted three minutes, and the men showed that they were attempting to practise the holds and throw which they had just seen. As each pair finished, they went to the dressing rooms to take their showers before leaving. The next practice will be on Thursday at 5:15, at the same place.

ADDRESSES ON VITAL TOPICS AT CAN. CLUB

Opening Meeting In Near Future.

PROGRAMME READY.

Sir Geo. Foster Unable To Attend First Meeting, But Will Speak Later On.

The committee of the McGill University Canadian Club has been very active in drawing up the programme of the club for the present session. Addresses on the following subjects have already been arranged for:

- 1.—The Lands and Forests of Canada.
- 2.—The Mines, Water Powers and Fisheries of Canada.
- 3.—The Railway Situation in Canada.
- 4.—The Labor Situation and the Labor Movement in Canada.
- 5.—Our Canadian Finances.
- 6.—Education in Canada and the Future of the Canadian Universities.
- 7.—The Foreign Population and Emigration.
- 8.—The Grain Growers' Association and the Farmers' Movement in Canada.
- 9.—French and English in Canada.

Each of these topics is of direct practical and immediate importance to Canadians in the period upon which we are now entering. In it the great problems facing Canada are dealt with—increased production, more efficient transportation, a satisfied community, and the means of carrying out greatly increased national debt without crippling the initiative and spirit of the people. Every McGill man should be fully informed with regard to these matters.

The following speakers have already been secured:

The Right Hon. Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Acting Prime Minister of the Dominion. The Hon. N. W. Rowell, President of the Privy Council of Canada. Aram Shortt, LL.D., of Ottawa, one of the leading authorities on the railway situation in Canada. R. A. Ross, Esq., City Commissioner of Montreal.

Dean Adams. The Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, will probably also address the club. The other speakers will be announced later.

Sir George Foster, who was to have been the speaker at the opening meeting of the club, has been obliged to be absent in the West and later in Washington, and is consequently, unable to leave Ottawa at the present time, but will speak at an early meeting, probably at the beginning of January.

The opening meeting of the club will be held shortly, and the time, place and speaker will be announced in the course of a day or two.

ARTS ATTENTION.

The following are requested to be at the Stadium at 2:00 p.m. to-day to play for Arts in the Arts-Med. football game: Pye, Ballantyne, Amaron, Schwartzman, Fullerton, Hutcheson, Puddicombe, Falconer, Rutherford, Anderson, Jones, Webster and Whittall. All other men who wish to play on the Arts team will report to Chisholm sometime during this morning.

SOCIAL HELD BY ARTS '20 BIG SUCCESS

Twenty Fellows Were Present.

QUESTIONS DISCUSSED.

Class Combine Business and Social At a Meeting Last Night.

Last night the class of Arts '20 held a very pleasant combined social and business meeting in the Cafeteria at the Union. About twenty of the real live members were present and several very weighty questions were considered at length. O'Brien opened negotiations at half-past eight, and the minutes of the last previous meeting were read and adopted.

Mr. Lalonde, of the Senior Play committee, reported that only a little progress had been made in that direction as yet. Plays are being read, but no decision has yet been reached in that respect. It is expected that about eight men will have parts, and it is hoped that competition for these parts will be spirited. The class boasts of some especially good talent. Mr. Smith, brother of the late much celebrated "A. L." has shown much theatrical talent, and the class expects he will be a great success, especially if given some tragic part like that of "Uncle Tom" of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Mr. Lalonde again came to the front when his good work in holding up the honor of the class in the recent Senior-Junior debate was spoken of. The class is very much pleased with this display of oratorical ability.

After some discussion, the members of the class decided that it would be best to hold the Senior dance at the usual time, late in the year. The dance schedule for the year has been so planned that a dance of some sort or other will be held every second Friday all year, and it seems inadvisable to put the Senior dance on much before convocation.

We hope that this year an innovation will be introduced in the matter of convocation. It seems to the Arts Seniors that a much more satisfactory convocation can be held if Arts, Science, Medicine and the R.V.C. can hold their convocations at one and the same time. If this plan could be carried out, something really big might be arranged. In order to help to bring this

THEOLOGS MEET IN DIVINITY HALL

Reorganization Of Theological Undergraduates Society.

A meeting was held in Divinity Hall last evening of all students of the co-operating Theological Colleges. The chief business of the meeting was the reorganization of the Theological Society, which had its inception in 1916, but had recently ceased its activities. A new constitution was adopted, and officers elected for the year, as follows:

President—J. A. Dilts. Vice-President—A. K. McMinn. Secretary—J. Grier. Treasurer—E. S. Bennett.

ATTENTION, RUGBY CLUB. The undermentioned members of the Rugby Club are requested to get in touch with Mr. Jack Copeland, secretary of the Rugby Club, or with the secretary of the Students' Council as soon as possible.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1919.

The Des Moines Convention

The necessity for immediate action with regard to the Des Moines Convention is obvious. It is absolutely essential that a definite conclusion, as to how many delegates McGill is in a position to send, be arrived at as soon as possible.

The enthusiasm with which the other universities of Canada are preparing to send large delegations to the Student Volunteer Convention augurs well for its success. Toronto University plans to send between ninety and one hundred representatives. The various other universities and colleges of Canada aspire to sending proportionately large delegations. The representation which we are aiming at is modest, to say the least, and McGill, in order to be justly represented could certainly not cut down the proposed delegation of twenty.

This is a great opportunity and one which should be hailed with enthusiasm by every student body on the continent. The Des Moines Convention will be the exemplification of that spirit of progress which should pervade all thought and action of the day, whether political, industrial, social or purely religious.

LIGNITE COAL IN CANADA.

Within a year there should be no demand so far as Western Canada is concerned for imported anthracite, if the statements of R. A. Ross, chairman of the Lignite Utilization Board, prove to be correct. The board was formed over a year ago and a sum of $600,000 placed at its disposal by the Dominion Government and the governments of Saskatchewan and Manitoba with which to investigate the possibilities of utilizing the low-grade lignite coal which bounds in southern Saskatchewan and southern Manitoba. After extensive investigation the board has decided to erect a plant, probably at Blenford, Saskatchewan, in which the product of the lignite mines will be pulverized, mixed with a binder and delivered to dealers in the form of briquettes.

Mr. Ross, in an interview, made the following statement: "Our experiments have now reached the point where we have got a process for carbonizing and briquetting lignite which gives us a commercial product at a commercial price from lignite coal, practically equal in heating value to anthracite coal."

"We have subjected our briquettes to the most rigid tests with completely satisfactory results. We have soaked these briquettes in water, put them in cold storage, thawed them out, and frozen them again, and they stood all these tests. They can be piled in the open without any protection and without injury. These briquettes, while made of lignite, are simply anthracite, because the whole composition of the coal has been changed. It takes two tons of lignite coal to make one ton of briquettes. We drive off the gases which make lignite coal so smoky and sooty; we evaporate all the water and the completed product can be shipped anywhere and used for any purpose for which anthracite coal would be used."

TOURISTS' TESTIMONY.

A Brooklyn paper ran an excursion through the Canadian and United States national parks last summer, and then took a vote of those in the party as to which hotels and parks they thought most of. The overwhelming verdict was in favor of those in Canada as against those in their own country. That is very good advertisement for the Canadian Pacific, which owns the hotels, and for the Canadian government, which owns and manages the Rocky Mountain parks.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE.

Oxford and Cambridge are by no means behind in the present universal boom in higher education. Altogether there are about 8000 undergraduates at the two universities, and at Oxford the academic limits have had to be increased from 1½ to 3-1-3 miles from the centre of the university in order to increase the accommodation outside the college walls.

There are many conjectures going around as to the composition and scope of the Royal Commission which is to be formed to inquire into the matter of increased financial aid from the state. It is rumored that Mr. Asquith will preside over it, and his appointment would be welcomed, not only on account of his being a distinguished Oxford man but because of his unique knowledge of public finance.

At Cambridge the new term begins with many events of public interest. Honorary degrees are to be conferred on the King of Italy, Viscount Jellicoe, Vice-Admiral Sims and other prominent men. Prince Albert and Prince Henry have already come into residence, being entered as members of Trinity.

CHANGING JAP. CONDITIONS.

Abe-Kobai, a dhot Yokohama merchant, bequeathed 1,000,000 yen to be used for the public welfare of Kanagawa prefecture, placing the matter entirely in the hands of the Governor, Inouye. This is by no means a solitary case of its kind, as it may be remembered that an Osaka merchant, not long ago, donated 1,000,000 yen to construct a public meeting house, which is now complete and in use. However, it shows a change in the psychology of the people, with whom the family has been the unity of society, and family property and possessions have been kept intact from one generation to the next, even by the expedient of adopting other people's children to keep up the family lineage whenever no heir is born. This change is welcome, for it indicates a contribution to the betterment of the social welfare of Nippon.

McGILL VS. M.S.C. WILL PLAY TO-NIGHT

Good Game Expected At Y. M.C.A., Drummond St.

The McGill Polo team will meet the Montreal Swimming Club to-night at 8.15 in the Y.M.C.A. natatorium. The teams are very evenly matched, and last time overtime had to be played before the M.S.C. scored the winning goal. To-night a very fast game is expected, and the presence of rooters will help considerably. The admission fee will be twenty-five cents, and all men are urged to get out.

McGill will select the team from the following men: Lalshley, Walters, Wiggs, Winter, Laidley, Patten, Miller, Bastable and Schippl. These men are requested to be on hand at the Y.M.C.A. at 8.00 (eight) p.m.

A short workout was held last night, and the men appeared to be in good form. There is little doubt that Bobbs Winter will be the fastest man in the tank to-night, and he and Laidley should manage to do some scoring for McGill. Both Lalshley and Walters are sure in goal, so the M.S.C. men should have some difficulty in scoring. A good fast game is assured, so let every McGill man get out and support his team.

AN ENGLISH HOTEL IN PARIS.

As early as 1792 there existed an English hotel at Paris. It was owned by a man named White and was situated opposite the Church of Notre Dame des Victoires. Its chief clientele was drawn from the English Liberals of the day, who were attracted to Paris by the British enthusiasm for the French Revolution. For, as a writer in the Anglo-French review points out, "If George III and the Tories watched with anxious eye the progress of democracy, the whole Liberal Party, imbued with the ideas of Rousseau, was amazed at the flashing developments in France." Among the noted guests there lodged was Tom Paine, author of the "Age of Reason." Lord Fitzgerald wrote home of him: "We breakfast, dine and sup together. The more I see of his inner self, the more I love and respect him." The hotel is intimately concerned with the history of the Terror.

AVIATION IN AUSTRALIA.

While the air route from England to the Commonwealth is being carefully mapped out, excellent work is being done from the Australian end. A private company, Aerial Services, Ltd., has established a chain of aerial landing stations across the continent from Sydney to Darwin, in the Northern Territory. The trip was made entirely by motor vehicles, and for a portion of the journey across untracked and almost unknown portions of tropical Australia an aboriginal boy acted as compass. Stations have been established at distances of 300 miles apart. Representatives of the company have left Darwin for Java and will continue the survey across the Malay Archipelago in order to link up with India.

FANCY SKATING REVIVED IN R.V.C.

All Girls Are Asked To Sign Up-A Once.

At a meeting of the R.V.C. Athletic Association on Monday last, it was decided that Fancy Skating should be revived as a college sport. To make it a success it needs the support of every girl in R.V.C., those who cannot skate as well as those who can skate well.

Before the war the Fancy Skating Club was one of the most prominent at R.V.C. Now, that peace has come and we are going back to normal college life this club should not be neglected.

Papers are posted on the R.V.C. Athletic board in order that all who wish to join the club may sign at once. All names must be in by Thursday night.

So all sign up, girls. If you can't skate, come and learn how. It's a sport every Canadian should know. If you can skate, come and learn to do better! All turn out and make this year the most successful the club has ever known.

Although the club is being organized in R.V.C., it is not only for the girls. Dr. Eve has kindly consented to do all he can to further the success of the club and it is hoped all others interested in fancy skating, both the members of the faculties and the students, will follow his example.

As soon as arrangements can be made with the Campus Rink Committee, a meeting will be held at R.V.C., and it is hoped that everyone interested in the club will turn out. Notice of the meeting will be given in the "Daily."

THE DENTIST.

Your soul turns to a sodden lump,
You feel your weary shoulders sag;
When some old molar starts to jump
Like Dempsey punching at the bag;
You know the dregs are in your cup,
And yet you can't afford to wait,
And so you call your dentist up
And frame him for an early date.

In abject terror you recline
Within the big chair; near at hand,
While cold chills tango down your spine
And tremors shake your nervous hand.

As raw fear tears into your breast
He throws a gag into your mouth;
And as he taps the molar's crest
He hits the trail—and travels south.

Of all the weapons you can name
From howitzers to hand grenades
That rip into the human frame
Where horror brings its haunting shades.

The "buzzers" wips for age or youth,
As with your final gasp for breath,
It jams against an aching tooth,
And starts to jazz the Song of Death.

There's nothing like it on this trip,
And 'Old Gèhenna, all aglow,
Will have to hit an awful clip
To tie it in the Realm Below.

How sweet death seems against this fate,
As jazzing on at dizzy rate
The whirling steel sinks deeper in
This fair.

I sometimes wonder if they know
While tapping a molar's boil,
How deep into the tooth they go
Like drillers after hidden oil?
For I have often seen them swoon
Near sudden death, as with a spurt
They pry into a throbbing nerve
And softly murmur—"Did it hurt?"

It's bad enough, when, with a rap
They open up the molar's cleft,
And drop a death-bomb in the gap,
To mop-up anything that's left; a
But I believe it's even worse

When probing with that needle wire
He jabs until with smothered curse
You feel your blazing heart's on fire.

But when the "buzzers" laid aside,
Suppressor of the aching hop,
And you can't chew with buoyant pride

Upon a beefsteak or a chop:
Where once you thought of muffled drum;
And firing squads in bitter rage,
The erstwhile villain now becomes
The Greatest Hero of the Age.

REPRESENTATIVES OF CLASS HOCKEY MEET.

A meeting of the Class Hockey representatives was held at the Union at 7.30 last night. Dr. Lamb was in the chair, while Staughnessy and Teddy Behan acted as advisers to those drawing up an inter-class hockey schedule. Dr. Lamb urged the importance of inter-class hockey, as giving anyone with any ability a chance to bring himself to the fore, since those who distinguish themselves in inter-class hockey would probably be chosen to fill the positions on the Senior team.

It was decided that the class representatives would draw up a schedule of practice hours, as the campus rink is to be flooded as soon as possible, and it will be necessary to put in a few days practising before beginning the inter-class series.

SOCIAL HELD BY ARTS '20 BIG SUCCESS

about the Arts class is willing to postpone their convocation for a week if necessary. Of course, even then, the Medical convocation would have to be held a week earlier, and the Faculty of Medicine might not agree to that. Let us hope we all can agree and tan graduate together.

A debate between representatives of Arts '20 and Law '22 is to be held next Tuesday, and Messrs Latham and McLean were chosen to take the affirmative on the part of the class. With such able speakers to represent us, we expect another victory.

Then the really big topic, or at least the one calling forth the greatest amount of discussion, was brought up. For some time many of us have wondered whether or not the compulsory attendance rule now nominally in force for students of the Faculty of Arts is a good thing, especially for the Third and Fourth Years. An opportunity at last was offered to express our respective opinions, and the members of the class went at it with a will. All arose at once and spoke together, and it was only after Mr. O'Brien had calmed the mob by the serenity of his countenance and the strength of his personality that anything like order ensued.

Some of the more cynical suggested that it was useless to waste so much good forceful English and sulphur fumes on such a subject, for, after all, the Faculty will decide about the maintenance or abolition of the rule. But by far the greater part of the class believed that it would be better to at least make a suggestion, with which the Faculty could deal as they saw fit. So the debate started. All sorts of opinions were expressed. Some even went so far as to say that they didn't believe in lectures at all, that is, not more than three or four a week, to be attended at the students' discretion. But most of the worthy gentlemen disagreed with this radical opinion, holding that it was Bolshevistic and not worthy of the minds of gentlemen and scholars. Messrs Center and McClure, especially, contended that "since we came here to be educated, it would be well to have lectures going on which the student could attend if so inclined.

Well, this state of uproar continued until the president had finished a short nap, when a vote was taken and it was decided to ask that the record of a student's attendance at any particular set of lectures be consulted only in case any doubt exists as to whether or not the student has passed the course, the idea being that in case of the failure of a man by a small margin, if that man has been faithful in his attendance, a little lenience might be shown him. It must be understood that this recommendation applies only to Juniors and Seniors, as it is realized that the younger and less experienced students in the faculty need some guiding maxim to help them through the crooked paths of the first two years, and the law, "attend or be plucked," will do as well as any.

At this point "retirements" were served, and it was easy for one experienced in the college man's state of finances to see that it is near the end of the term by the way the worthy members attacked the excellent coffee, cake and ice cream set before them by Mr. Price. The only man who seemed to have had enough to eat, of late was Mr. E. C. Martin, the class treasurer. He was the only man who had cigarettes and who happened to have the change for a quarter "on him." Of course, no slur is intended on Mr. Martin's character. It is impossible to cast a slur on such a character, but the writer thinks he will bear watching. Arrangements were made to have the class group picture taken at Notman's on Wednesday, December 3, at 1.00 p.m. All are asked to be on hand, appropriately dressed, and looking as well as possible. The executive asks this especially. Look your best; one cannot do more.

Mr. L. K. Freedman was asked to see what could be done about a class indoor baseball team.

In closing, it must be said that we missed the vacant faces of the absent members, and hope they will be with us when next we meet.

RECOLLECTIONS OF MAINE.

Out in Colorado, which has been prohibition long enough to get used to such things, a tourist has discovered an animal that looks like a rabbit, barks like a fox, hibernates like a bear and is as bashful as a beaver. The description is surprisingly like that of the far-famed twoof-twoof of the Maine backwoods, except that the twoof-twoof has horns, and eight legs, and a large pair of green and yellow striped wings.—Springfield Republican.

FRESH REBELS PUNISHED FOR MISBEHAVIOUR

Arraigned Before Students
Tribunal At Midnight.

SEVERELY LECTURED.

Penalty Consisted Of Cleaning Boots For Judging Team.

The smoothest thing put over the Freshmen this year was pulled off just before midnight on Monday, when six freshmen who had disobeyed the unwritten laws of Macdonald were brought before a tribunal of students, and each given a severe lecture and punished for their offences.

Each of these culprits were warned to appear in the smoking room at 11:30 p.m. a few minutes before, and not another freshman knew what was to take place. Various schemes were used to entice them to the smoking room. One thought he was going to have a feed, another thought he was going to be elected to represent this college at Des Moines, the others had similar ideas put before them. Needless to say, they all turned up on time carrying that look of confidence and seriousness that goes with men very deep in thought.

The first man was charged with misbehaving himself in church and received the most severe lecture he ever had in his life. Ashby, who was the official lecturer, dwelt firstly on the sanctity of the church, his duty to the church, and what he owes to the church.

Secondly, his apparent lack of even the most elementary principles of Christianity. He was described as worse than any heathen, for even the heathen reverences the blocks of wood or carcases which they close as their gods, but he carried a brick of clay to church.

"Far better that you should grovel in the slime and mud of the earth than to again enter a church with any but a humble and meek attitude."

Your punishment must be one of which you should be proud and honored to do, for it will be to clean the shoes of our most worthy fellow students, the stock judging team.

The second man was charged with extreme bumptiousness, etc. For his insolence in wanting to explain he got an extra pair of shoes to clean.

The third charged with carrying a cane, being a ferocious milk consumer in the dining hall, and for his general officious attitude. He was described as a milk sup. "Just imagine a young man of your age consuming great quantities of milk daily that should be given to the girls. They need milk. It's up to you to give them a chance to fill their 'waists' places."

The next was charged with excessive fussing, carrying a cane and generally trying to become popular with the girls. "Not only are you trying to cut out the older years but even attempting to take girls away from your fellow classmates."

"Whose cane did you borrow? Do you borrow mine and throw it back into my room through the transoms?" "No sir. I use a good cane."

"Then shine six pairs of shoes." The next was perhaps the worst of all. His offences were missing lectures by the score and awaking around with a more officious air than his instructions. "You should be proud to be a member of this great institution. You should look upon this place that houses your carcass, that provides that same carcass with nourish meat which it doesn't deserve. You, I say, should look upon this place with reverence."

"Instead of sticking to the straight and narrow path which you know is the best, you're ploughing off across the fields, over fences and stone piles and have just about landed in a swamp. In future watch your step." "Gentlemen, how many pairs of shoes shall he shine?"

"The tribunal decided that he should shine six pairs."

The sixth was Snookums. The official lecturer was so overcome by the pitiful expression on his angel face that he had to lean on the table for support.

"Here we have a young man whom we thought was so well behaved that we were seriously contemplating on sending him to Des Moines."

"Here he is, gentlemen, standing before us almost as his mother saw him the day he was born."

"He was in such a hurry to get here in time to be elected that he didn't even stop to dress properly. Note his dress, gentlemen, to appear before such a tribunal as this. By his hair he is evidently trying to imitate Hindenburg with that brush cut. And one would think that he obtained that tilt to his nose by the continued study of the ex-Kaiser's photograph taken during his trip through Belgium."

He was charged with carrying a cane, a low tie and, for his age, an extraordinary partiality to the fairer

REPRESENTATIVES GIVEN SEND-OFF

Live Stock Judging Team
Carried Shoulder High by Enthusiastic Students.

The Macdonald Live Stock Judging Team left for Chicago yesterday to take part in the great International Live Stock Judging Competition, and were given a hearty send-off by the entire student body. The team will compete against other teams from all over North America.

Instead of rushing madly over to the dining room, according to habit, after snatching that last sweet minute of sleep, the men students were all up at the first tinkle of the rising bell, and assembled in front of the main residence. As the unsuspecting members of the team appeared on the scene, bent on one last little fuss over their porridge before leaving, they were hoisted shoulder high by their enthusiastic fellow students and carried across the campus in a triumphant manner indeed. On arrival at the dining hall they were met by the girls, who cheered them again and again, showing that they realized that the team was going out for the purpose of bringing honor to Old Macdonald. This part of the demonstration was almost too much for the modest members of the team, and they appealed for mercy, but, despite their entreaties and struggles to get free, they were carried up and down between the rows of tables in the dining hall in full view of all before they were finally allowed to sit down and consume their meal in peace.

But Mac's representatives at the great International Stock Judging Competition were not allowed to get away with any such small send-off as this, for while they tried to steal away unnoticed to the railway station, the entire body of men students, disregarding lectures, turned out and once more carried them proudly and triumphantly to their train, all the time singing songs and yelling for Old Macdonald and for Old McGill, and evidently impressing the fact on the residents of Ste. Anne's that something was doing at Macdonald.

The few minutes that elapsed before the train arrived were by no means dull. Songs were sung and resung; when the supply of new ones was exhausted old ones were resurrected and used to good effect. Cheers were given for Dr. Harrison, Prof. Barton and for the team. Finally the train pulled in, and Macdonald's third judging team took their seats amidst shouts of farewell from their fellow students and with the yells of their Alma Mater ringing in their ears.

MEETING OF HOME ECONOMICS CLUB.

Miss Philip will give a lecture on "Thrift" to the members of the Home Economics Club to-night at 6:45, in Room 207 Main Building.

There will be a girls' basketball practice this afternoon at 4:45. It is hoped that a large number will turn out, so that we may have a very successful practice.

Dr. Rexford will continue his very interesting illustrated address on "Palestine" to-night at 6:45, in Room 148.

A meeting of the Home Economics Club will be held on Wednesday evening at 6:45 in Room 207. Miss Philip will speak on "Thrift." This meeting is open to both Teachers and Science.

The captain of the Sophomore Basketball team wants a good turnout of Sophs to-night for a stiff workout.

sex. "Not one, gentlemen, but schools of them."

"And as for the low tie, why its the talk of the whole community. When you go down town the whole of the canine tribe, with the accompanying children, follow you about. Cats hump their backs as you pass, and dogs bark. Even the cart horses stop on the road to look and wonder. One old horse even leaning up against the telephone pole with legs crossed."

"I saw a Ford car come skidding from side to side down the road," and I said, "that driver should be arrested for drunkenness, but no, he was not drunk. He had just passed that tie about a hundred yards up the road."

With the aid of candle light after midnight the conference continued its session until 1 a.m., and the Freshmen culprits separated sadder but wiser.

HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK-END

Friday afternoon found a large number of girls at the St. Anne's station, eagerly awaiting the train—thetrain that was going to take them to Montreal for their week-end. Since they have only one week-end before Christmas, this one had naturally been chosen with the greatest care and forethought, and now, as they waited, they could not keep out the hope that their selection had been a wise one. At last the train came up, and after a few vicious snortings and puffings, stopped, while all the girls boarded it, and now they were off!

Sunday night found these same girls back at the St. Anne's station once more. True, the suit-cases were a little heavier, the faces at first a little longer than before, but otherwise, they were the same girls. Had you walked the short distance from the station to the college you would easily have seen the week-end was an enjoyable one. "Oh! why do we have to come back so soon? I'm missing another affair to-night! Oh! Oh! Oh!" These are only a few of the regretful remarks overheard.

However, scarcely had the college gates been reached than the aspect seemed to change, somewhat. After all, Mac. is a dear old place, and "I wonder what happened while I was away?" soon gained the upper hand.

In the college, too, numerous little feuds had been prepared for these various girls, where city and college news was exchanged. How the time does fly as they go through all the "Where I went's," "Whom I saw's," etc., etc., and—there goes that bell for quietness! By this time the girls have long become reconciled to the idea of having used up their week-end and are happy at Mac. once more.

WHO'S THE GOAT!

I saw a good film at the pictures the other night. Chaplin, acting the part of a Coleman, was crossing St. Anne's Ferry with a Bushell of Bowers which he intended to feed to a goat which he had just bought, and which he had tied to the rail. His sister, And-er-son Edward, were gazing full of bliss at the pretty scenery, when suddenly the goat, which had a regular Horsey appetite, broke loose and started eating their package of Sweet Graham biscuits. Edward, an attractive little fellow with his 'At-well back on his head showing a cute little kurlie, began to cry, while his mother started screaming: "Coop-er up somewhere, and Naylor good and strong." But just as the picture showed the goat jumping overboard, with Chaplin after it—the film broke, the lights went out, and I followed their example.

GIFT OF OERTLING BALANCE.

An Oertling Balance, formerly the property of Lieut.-Col. J. H. Burland, Sci. '32, has been presented to the Macdonald Physics Building by his nephew, J. B. Macphail, Arts '14. At a time when good chemical balances are scarce and expensive, this gift is greatly appreciated.

GLEE CLUB IMPROVING.

The weekly meeting of the Macdonald College Glee Club was held last night. We were pleased to see so many new faces in our ranks. The addition has helped considerably, as it has brought to light many "Lost Cords" and "Lonesome Melodies." The special treat of the evening was the singing of the Misses Soles, Kent and Puttman. You have the right idea, girls; keep it up. Judging from the attendance last night, the secretaries of the various parts will be kept busy for a few days enrolling new members, especially the Bass and Tenors.

The added interest taken by the Agricultural students was a pleasing feature, as the male voices served their places to balance off the choruses.

A series of teas is being given by Mrs. Isen, Dean of Residences, in the reception room to the presidents and secretaries of the various College organizations. Mrs. Isen's wish is to entertain all the students, but as this is impossible, she is entertaining the various officers.

The first of the series was given on Monday evening, and an enjoyable time was spent by all. Those present were: Mrs. Milne, the Misses McQuat, MacAlloney, Nation, Gould, Oosthuizen, Harkness and Harrison; Messrs. R. Jones, Buckland, Buchanan, Derick, Brock, Matthews, Brighton, Saunders, Sutherland, Welsh, Richardson, Milne and Hodgins.

Last evening, Mrs. Isen entertained the following: the Misses Soles, Laurie, Sullivan, Arthur, Murray, D. White, Gifford, Wheeler, Holcomb, Matthewman Edna Rough and Mrs. Risdon; the Messrs. Birch, Jones, Watson, Graham, Sutherland, Thompson and Emberley.

TUNES FOR R.V.C. SONGS

The following are suggested tunes for the Song Competition which is being held under the auspices of the Undergraduate Society of the Royal Victoria College.

For an R.V.C. son, the first five are excellent tunes; the others are good, and should produce good results:

Men of Harlech.
Melody in F (Rubinstein).
Lauriger Horatius.

Song of the Wandering Students of the Middle Ages.

See the Conquering Hero Comes (Handel).

Under the Greenwood Tree (Patterson).

Vicar of Bray.

Sweet and Low.

Oh! Hush Thee, My Baby (Sullivan).
Old King Cole.

Will You No' Come Back Again?
Juno.

For an R.V.C. Sports Song, the first three are especially fine; but all are splendid.

Here's a Health Unto His Majesty.

Our English Home (Kahan air by Santa Lucia).

John Peel.

Come Lassies and Lads.

Chorus of Mordor Melpomene.

Note.—If airs are adapted, name of composer must be written above the song.

Competitors are encouraged to select their own tunes, and even to enter an original tune; but these selections are offered as suggestions of fitting music for an R.V.C. Song or Sports Song. Those interested in composing words to any of these tunes may have the music from Miss Helen Nichol, as Miss Cartwright has most generously offered the use of several college song books for the use of competitors. Please bear in mind that on Wednesday, December 3rd, the competition will close.

Will everybody interested in the success of this Undergraduate Song Competition make a special effort to contribute a song.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION FOR SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

On Saturday afternoon, November 29th, the Household Science students of Macdonald College will serve afternoon tea—Price 35c—in Room 117, second floor of Main Building, to collect a fund to send delegates to the Students Convention at Des Moines. Don't miss this chance to have the best home-made tea possible. All your friends will be there and we want you too.

Once again the question of "What table are you sitting at?" rings out, for tables have been changed again this morning. Once again we eagerly scan the lists to find out who are the companions at table for the next two weeks, and it has, as before, caused no little excitement. All girls are naturally fond of change (as a girl, I can only speak for them), and that was probably why there was so little complaint at changing tables to-day. There will be new people now whom they can tell that they dislike hash, fish, etc., and after all, that does mean something, for it is a relief sometimes to voice such dislikes. Of course, the all-important reason the change was in many cases welcomed, was because we are anxious to lose no time in getting well acquainted with everyone, but lest you think there is only a main reason, I had mentioned these minor ones too.

HEAR! HEAR!

Queen Mary was visiting wounded soldiers in a hospital in London. She stopped beside the bed of one Tommy Atkins and asked him in what battle he was wounded.

"At Wyper," said he.

"Ypres," said the Queen.

"I was struck just as we were nearin' Wyper," said the soldier.

"Ypres," said the Queen.

"What did the Queen say to you?" asked a companion a few hours later.

"She didn't say much," replied the soldier. "Er. Majesty 'ad the 'coughs."

WHAT NEXT?

The whole school seems to have gone wild over golf. This has no reference whatever to the African branch of the sport, as everybody has been crazy about that for some time.

That reminds us of Ike's first trip to the links. Just as he started to drive the ball, someone got in the way. So Ike shouted in a deep voice, "Three Ninety-Eight!"

FLY WORK.

Clyde Opelt, Jr., who lives on Santa Catalina Island, Cal., attends school in the San Francisco Valley, fifty miles away, and goes to and from school in an airplane, leaving every Monday morning and returning every Friday night.

HOCKEY PROSPECTS

The hockey season has now started. For the past few weeks followers of our great winter sport have been busy hunting up their favorite sticks and resurrecting their long unused skates. Rugby is already a thing of the past. Everybody is watching the weather with anxious eyes, and the recent fall of snow has put joy into the hearts of all puck-chasers.

The prospects for hockey are very bright. Even at this early stage all indications seem to point to a successful season. Coach Shaughnessy will be in complete charge, and this alone will insure the greatest possible development of all available material. Although "Shag" has never coached McGill in hockey, he is fully qualified in that sport as in Rugby, and will undoubtedly turn out a squad that will uphold the honor and traditions of the Red and White.

Ambitious plans are being formed for the coming season. It is expected that four teams will be entered in different leagues. Two of these, in the Intercollegiate and City Leagues, will be of senior calibre. The other two will be Intermediate and Junior. In addition, there will be an active inter-class schedule drawn up. Although it will take a large number of men, no difficulty is anticipated, if as much enthusiasm is shown as was displayed towards Rugby. The main disadvantage that the McGill squad must work under is the lack of an artificial ice rink, which necessitates an entire dependence on the weather. For this reason it is almost certain that ice will not be available till comparatively late. Coach Shaughnessy, however, is not letting that worry him. On the contrary, he has already started the squad on outdoor training in order to get them into the best condition possible, and yesterday evening some forty would-be hockey players could be seen hard at work at the Stadium. A room in the Union has also been fitted up for practice in shooting, so that by the time a permanent sheet of ice is available, the men will be ready to enter into the final stages of their training.

NEW GRAND.

To try to describe the picture at the New Grand this week would require years of experience in dramatic art. "Broken Blossoms," produced by David Watt Griffith, is a photoplay extraordinary, dealing with the adventures of a Chinaman in the "Limehouse" district of London. The scenes at the beginning of the photoplay are beautiful in every sense of the word. The magnificent settings are unequalled in the production of motion pictures to-day. Richard Barthelmess, playing the role of the "Yellow Man" in London, is an artist whose talent has wide scope in this picture.

His part in the photoplay is extremely difficult, yet his admirable acting is capable of doing it full justice. Lillian Gish, playing the role of a white girl in a prize fighter's dwelling, seems to possess more charms and wistfulness than ever before. Her acting is wonderful, and seems to keep the audience emitting praises to her glorious work. Her part is one of many which require the skill and charm which she is capable of portraying. Her acting is worthy of every praise. The minor roles are ably filled, but the chief ones are those just described.

The picture is a screen classic, and should be looked upon as such. It is a picture of exceptional beauty, wonderful acting and in one word—"A masterpiece." Every one should see it mainly for its beauty and the inspiring love so well portrayed. It ends in a tragedy, rare to the screen to-day, and every minute finds the audience more wrapped up in the theme of the story. See this photoplay, and you will be well pleased with it.

A Canadian Pictorial, showing excellent pictures of the McGill-Varsity game, and two comedies are also shown. The Grand Orchestra help to make the programme one which is more than worth the admission which is charged.

SILENCE FOR THE VANQUISHED

"Say, pa, I had a fight with Jimmy Green to-day."

"Did you whitt him?"

"Gee, pa, ain't I tellin' you about it?"

FIRST HOCKEY PRACTICE.

Under Frank Shaughnessy's direction about forty hockey enthusiasts turned out for the first practice of the season at the Stadium yesterday afternoon. The darkness and the blizzard seemed to act as a tonic to the already eager athletes. From comments overheard from those present, there seems to be a feeling of general satisfaction over the turnout for the first practice of the season. The spirit which won the Intercollegiate Football Championship for McGill does not seem to have died down by any means, and it is the universal impression that there is something coming to McGill in the hockey line as well.

Running around the field and kicking the football through four or five inches of fresh snow provides plenty of exercise. After a good half hour of this sort of work, the hot showers proved very welcome to the participants. All students who play hockey should get out to practise and so be in form when the college games are scheduled.

Not Convincing
"I am as innocent as a child of the charge of stealing that there bag, Gap!" protested an acquaintance.
"Well," replied Gap Johnson, of Pumping Ridge, Ark., as five of fourteen children and am tightly well educated in the possibilities and probabilities of the little cusses, I'll just say that your denial don't fetch you nuthin' with me."

FIRST DANCANT NEXT SATURDAY

Refreshments Free — Small
Admission Tax—Lots Of Jazz—Good Company.

The first of a series of Saturday afternoon "The Dancants" to be given by the Students' Council, will be held in the Union on Saturday next.

For some time enquiries have been made as to the possibility of arranging such a function, but it was not deemed advisable to make a start till the rugby season was over.

At a meeting held some time ago it was decided to give the affair a try and arrangements are now complete for the initial one.

One of the best jazz bands in the city has been secured, and will play from 4 to 6.30 p.m.

Refreshments, including sandwiches and iced drinks, will be served free of charge. The hall room of the Union will afford sufficient floor space to accommodate a very large number, but the committee have decided to limit the number to 150, in order that there may be no crowding.

Men are particularly requested to bring their ground's tickets with them as the attendants have strict orders to admit only students. This precaution will eliminate an undesirable element which frequent many Saturday afternoon functions in the city.

The admittance fee will be $1.25, inclusive of refreshments.

A PLUMBER'S GARDEN OF VERSES

(Obsequies to R. L. S.)

I.

Summer and Winter.
In winter I get up at ten;
At six o'clock I'm home again.
In summer I have time to play;
Four hours is then the working day.

Four hours in all the working day.
For which I get a full day's pay.
Because it's harder on my feet
To get the hools I left down street.

And does it not seem strange to you
That all my clients look so blue?
If I were them I'd gladly pay
No matter what the length of day.

II.

A Thought or Two.
It is a pleasing thing to think
That everybody has a sink
With all the pipes beneath the stairs
And other things to need repairs.

III.

Whole Duty of Plumbers.
A plumber always should enlarge
His bills and always think to charge.
For overtime to beat the band.
At least as much as folks will stand.

IV.

The Nice Rain.
The rain's been raining all day long
And plugging all the drains;
To-morrow I will fix them all—
I love it when it rains.

V.

The Friendly Leak.
The friendly leak all bubbling out
Is pleasant to my eye;
It gives me drink and sips of stout;
It makes my bill so high.

I find these leaks so easily
When people call me in;
An augur sharp I take with me
To work on roofs of tin.

And what a pleasant life I lead;
For every hour or two
I play at cards or books I read,
While fixing leaks for you.

ARTS SOPHS WIN BASKETBALL GAME.

Arts Second Year defeated Commerce First Year yesterday afternoon in the first round of the Inter-class Basketball games, by the score of 24 to 8. The Arts team had the advantage of having played together before and of maintaining the same team practically throughout the game, while Commerce were continually changing players. For the winners, Falconer, on the forward line, and Werry, on the defence, showed up well. For the losers, Meunier scored most of their points, and Tyler put up a consistent game on the defence.

Wednesday, Dec. 3rd, at 1.00 p.m.
All members are requested to be present at the time indicated.

NEW GRAND.

"I would be terribly nervous were I to become a star and be exploited everywhere. So much is expected of a star, for the public is of such exacting and changing tastes. Fortunately for me, my experiences have been of the most pleasant kind and people have been good enough to say many nice and encouraging things about my work in 'Broken Blossoms'."

Thus spoke Miss Lillian Gish—the real Lillian Gish. And to show the simplicity of her taste and the modesty of her wishes, she was induced to speak of her work under D. W. Griffith's direction, a work that found its first real expression in "The Birth of a Nation," and which has been watched by a devoted public through numerous other Griffith productions and is now to be seen so splendidly in that remarkable art sensation "Broken Blossoms," at the New Grand Theatre.

"Mr. Griffith trains all of his players how not to act. That is the very first thing he insists upon. We must move through our parts just as we would in real life. There must be no artificial expressions and no posing. Mr. Griffith teaches that to express an emotion you must feel it; then the expression will be real. Mr. Griffith is a dreamer who makes his dreams come true, and his ideals of truth and beauty are contagious. It is more difficult not to understand him than it is to understand him. His very simplicity of method and his quiet direction make for complete harmony between his players and himself."

Next to her admiration for Mr. Griffith and her love of her work in the films, Miss Gish is devoted to her library and her treasured books. With her mother and sister Dorothy she lives in a pretty white house in Hollywood, Los Angeles, and spends her hours away from the studio in reading and motoring.

Very few motion picture fans know that it was Mrs. Mary Gish, mother of the two popular Gish sisters, who paved the way for her daughters to become prominent in the world of the movies. Mrs. Gish was left a widow in Baltimore when she was but twenty-three years of age. Some months after the husband and father had passed away Mrs. Gish was in New York. She had her two girls with her, tiny little blondes with curly locks, and it soon became a problem what should be done for their support. One day, a friend of hers mentioned a popular stock company. "Why don't you try for something there?" the friend asked.

Mrs. Gish was astonished. "I never have been on the stage," she responded. "That doesn't matter," was the assurance; "all you need is the job."

The result of it was that Mrs. Gish applied for the "job" and, of all wonders to her, she was accepted. From a very humble beginning she was advanced to better parts, and her work provided a good living for herself and her little golden-haired daughters.

But a very few years after that the beautiful little Gish sisters were taken to the old Biograph studio in Fourteenth Street, New York, by none other than our own Mary Pickford, a neighbor.
